Gen. Butler on the President's Policy, the New-Orleans Murders, and the Philadelphia Convention.

We give a fuller version of Gen. Butler's speech at Gloucester, Mass., of which our telegraphic report yesterday was saily a synopsis. Passing from preliminaries, the General proceeded as follows:

THE PRESIDENT'S PLAN.

At the moment when the conquering armies of the United States were sweeping over the land irresistibly, and when the power of the Confederacy was being fractured, and when their President was fleeing and pursued by the cavalry of the United States, at that moment, in the spirit that starved our prisoners at Libby. Belle Isle and Andersonville, they called the assassin hand of Booth against the great and good Lincoln, the last crowning infamy of the war. And that raised the Vice President of the United States into power, and while I propose to deal with all of his acts and opinions with that respect due to any man in a high office, it will yet be necessary to examine those acts and opinions. He then declared that treason should be made edons and traitors should be punished. That declaration was made to every committee from every State that visited him, and I need not tell this andience how that declaration the littled every loyal beart. Every man said, "Weil, if we have lost Lincoln, we have get Johnson, and the s should be restored to all their rights, civil and politicel, a they enjoyed before the war. That was one of the surrender. When that surrender was a st Washington, and the capitalation considered, it is once repudiated by every loyal man. What was it we been fighting for? What had we gained if terms were allowed? Andrew Johnson issued an requiring that these terms of surrender should be inde. Why! Because it restored these Robels to those a which lead to a part in the Government of the United and thus rendered nugatory the war in which we have engaged. Mark this because we want to see if after all resent policy of the Philadelphia Convention is to be carsul, we have not enacted the same terms of surrender, we have not enacted the same terms of surrender.

THE SPIRIT OF THE MOUTH—THE DUTY OF THE MORTH.

After reviewing the Constitutional Amendment, Gen. Scales and the service of the control of the product of the pr

They become my enemies in war and my friends in peace when they return to the true principles of republican liberty and law. Therefore my friends, my oid Democratic friends, he not afraid of any idea that you will be charged with any change of your parties. We have fought fourther in the old Democratic pour for many cears—we will fight four years more if necessary to save the true democratic four years more if necessary to save the true democratic four years more with the second principle, where every man shall have a right to equality in every State. He who swerres from that principle, swerves from it because he has not seen the course of events. The true democratic principle is equal rights to every man, and there is no such thing as having an exception in favor of or against the negro—equal rights to all mea.

After a sharp review of the platform of the Philadelphia Convention, wherein he cited the feeing of the Robels as expressed in thoir journals, to show its hypocrisy and false-hood, the general continued:

And that is the way that these men who went to Philadelphia and sat silent felt, and as one paper said, they did not cheer because it would be said all the enthusiasm came from

And that is the way that these men who went to Philadelphia and sat silent feit, and as one paper said, they did not obser because it would be said all the enthusiassem came from the South; they did not respond "Ayo" because it would be said that the people of the South passed the vote, though the real reason was that not a man of them dared go home and say they helped pass this resolution. They call their Rebellion a great and joirous cause lost for want of means; we call it a wicked Rebellion crushed by force of arms. They speak of the glarious deed and clothe their graves with flowers; we speak of Rebels and traitors, killed in the worst cause that men ever fought for. That is the difference between us, and are they in a condition to be received back! Lot us so together a moment. I have given you evidence of the Philadelphia Convention which was to teach us our political duty, and to show that the South was ready to fraternize, and I was grieved more than I would like to express, Checause I have ever back kindly personal relations with the President of the United States), when I heard of his saying to the committee—to Reverdy Johnson, a man who when I was in Baltimore stood on the fence for more than a month, not knowing which way to loap, until he found that we were considerably the strongest on Federal Hill, and our guss pointed toward his house.—I was grieved, I say, to hear the President say that a portlion of Congress, not the whole Congress, were attempting to usure power. Special Dispatch to The N. V. Tribune.
St. Louis. Menday, Aug. 27, 1866.
A large and enthusiantic Radical meeting was held at Carondolet Saturday night. The Hon, Henry T. Blow made a stirring speech, in which he arraigned the President as the author of the New-Orleans massaers. A letter was read from Gov. Fletcher relative to the attempts of the Conservatives to induce the Administration to interfere with the enforcement of the regist, I law in Missori-The Governor writes:

"It does not matter to me that Mr. Neell confers with President Johnson, nor that Mr. Hogan retails his statements. I propose to do nothing unlawful. I know my powers and duties, and have no doubt that President Johnson knows his. Noell was referred to the Secretary of War, and thereagon it greens a new Secretary of War is desired by the Conservatives of Missori. Hopen is getting old; his hearing is falling him, and it will be Lund that he is as badly mintaken about what the Frendent San he was in reference to that decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. THE HANCOCK COUNTY UNION CONVENTION—THE CANVASS IN OTHER PORTIONS OF THE STATE.

Special Despatch to the N. Y. Tribenes.

A special dispatch from Indianapolis of the date of Aug. 26 says, that at the Hancock County Convention at Greenfield, on Saturday, the Committee on Resolutions decided and brought in two reports, one for the President and the other for Congress. The former was laid on the table by an overwhelming majority, and the set indorsing Congress almost unanimously passed, there being but six negative votes. This is the home of Marshal Gooding of the District of Columbia, and this is the measure of the influence of the President there. Gov. Morton speech here (Indianapolis) was mainly devoted to a dissection of the men and the principles of the Philadelphia Convention. Col. Ingersoll speaks at Bedford, Lawrence Co., to-marrow, and Gov. Oglesby at Legamport, Cass County.

Ex-District Attorney Hanna spoke at the Union meeting last night. Gen. Exin, Chief of the Cavalry Bureau, who is on insiness connected with his department, was upon the stand, but when called upon, m. aged to leave the platform and avoid committing himse. —a very comfortable position under Mr. Johnson might have been jeoparded if he had. N. H. Talbot, the chairman of the State Democratic Central Committee was at Lafayette this week consulting with the leaders. Good autority states that in the caucus he laid great stress upon the success of a Democratic legislation as being absolutely recessary to save himself from destruction. Everything desired subordinate to the legislative candidate.

Gov. Fairchild has received a letter from Gov. Fletcher of Missouri showing that the action of this and other States in appointing honorary delegates to the Southern Union Convention will be very gratifying to them as they are thus assured of a hearty welcome. At a Convention in the Eleventh Schafferla District held here te-day delegates were instructed to present to the Congressional Convention the name of B. F. Hopkins as their candidate, and also to support the nomination of no man for Congress who is not in favor of the ratification of the Constitutional amendment by communities recently in rebellion as a condition precedent to their admittance to representation in the National Convention. Hopkins delegates were also elected from the Third and Sixth Assembly Districts.

Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Tribune.

CHICAGO, Menday, Ang. 27, 1869.

The Johnson ratification meeting in Memphis on Saturday evening was attended by about 1,000 persons. Gen. Forrest pressued. He said there was no decision in the late war, and he proposed now to go to the ballot-box. The fighting accomplished nothing, and he wantes more of it. He indexed the Philadelphia Convention a whole. Ameng the Vier-Presidents announced was a corder Creighton. Gen. Stoneman took a seat beside Forest. Resolutions declaring congress a usurping rumpwere loudly cheered. They indexed the Philadelphia Convention, but cheered emphatically the clause declaring resistance to degrating. MITTER

THE SOLDIERS RECOMMEND N. B. JUDD FOR CONGRESS—OTHER NOMINATIONS.

Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Tribone.
CHICAGO, Menday, August 27, 1856.
The soldiers of Chicago have agreed noon Gen. John L. Beveridge for Sheriff, and Major John McCarthy for Coroner, to go upon the Republican ticket for Cook Country, with the Hon. N. B. Judd for Congress. The formal nominations are to be made hereafter in County Convention if the friends of Judd and the soldiers shall carry their delegate elections. Gen. Beveridge went out with the 8th Cavalry, and was Major in the 181st Illinois. Subsequently he raised the 17th cavalry. Major McCarthy went out as assistant-surgeon of the 12th Cavalry and was afterward promoted to surgeon.

President Johnson manifests his respect for the personal and pointical friends of his predecessor by striking at them where-ever they are to be reached. He has just removed an intimate personal friend and neighbor of Mr. Lincoln. John W. Bunned Springfield, Ill., to make room, as Pension Agent, for the editor of the Springfield State Register, who has been a known, virulent, rabid, peace Copperhead. The State Register has been throughout the war a weak but malignant enemy of the Union, the war for the Union, and the heroes and soldiers of the war. "It is now 38 years since I was elected to the first Territo-rial Legislative Assembly of Iowa, from Dos Moines county, and during that period I have been honored by repeated evi-dence of the confidence of the teople of the county and of the State. Should I serve out my present term of office, my con-nection with the public address of the State, more or less inti-mate, and only interrupted by short intervals, will have extended over a period of 33 years. After such a length of service I believe it to be my duty to retire from public employ-ment and give place to my juniors.

Harrisburg (Penn.) Telegraph says:

The Harrisburg (Penn.) Telegraph says:

We learn from a private, but perfectly reliable source, that Cowan, the renerads has been repudiated at home. The facts are as follows: Daring a meeting of the hooset and incorraptible remainer of Westmoreland County—of the men who gave their votes to Abraham Lincolo, and their sons to defend the bonor and integrity of the Government, Senator Cowan addressed a note to the President thereof, asking that he might be accorded the privilege of addressing his old friends. The request was duly considered. His claims to an audience with honest men were fairly weighed. And the meeting decided manimonally not to hear him! It put in proof, is justification of the decision, that Edgas Cowan had forfeited the respect of the men who made him Senator; that he had, as a man, disgraced the county of his residence; that he had, as a Sousior, humiliated the State he represented, and that under no circumstances could or would the Republicans of Westmoreland County again listen to his sophistries or accept his counsels.

OBGANIZATION OF THE EIGHTH WARD JOHNSON ASSOCIATION.

At Spring-st. Hall last evening, there was, in response to a call, a meeting of the Democracy of the Eighth Ward for the purpose of organizing a Johnson Club or Association, which had met and organized during the previous week. There was a fair attendance, and the proceedings were not devoid of interest. After the President of the Association, Mr. Christopher Johnson, had explained the object of the meeting, to the effect that they "had and would" organize for the support of anybody, and Andrew Johnson in particular, opposed to the Union party of the country. Mr. John Kerrigan was introduced for the purpose of singing a song, witch, he announced, was patriotic—especially the chors, and that he wished ti esting to join him lustily is singing. Then, after reassuring them of its patriosis tone, he finished the first verse of a doggerel and called upon them, for the purpose of saving the Union, to join him in "Tol de rol of a ra"—gand sley did. Having finished that with the assistance of the meeting, he "aid" "Toddy that with the assistance of the meeting, he "aid" "Toddy that with the assistance of the meeting, he "aid" "Toddy that with the assistance of the meeting, he "aid" and office of a series of resolutions which guarantees introductice of a series of resolutions which guarantees introductice of a series of resolutions which he had discovered that people paid very little attention to the book they swore on. Mr. Kinsella has been connected with The Eagle in various capacities for it or if years past. In that time it has been part of his duty to disce at the claims of various candidates for public office. This is the first occasion upon which it would not be seemly to do so.

KINGS COENTY REPUBLICAN GENERAL COMMITTER.

A special meeting of this Committee was held last evening at their rooms, No. 9 Court-st., E. L. Sanderson in the chair. A resolution was offered by Henry C. Place of the Third Ward and adopted, approving of the call of the loyal Union men of the South for a Convention, to be held in the City of Philadelphia on the 3d day of September next for the purpose of presenting to the people of the United States their views on the great questions now before the country for decision and settlement, and assuring them of the sympathy and support of the Union Republican party of Kings County. In accordance with the spirit of the resolutions a large number of citizens was selected to represent the Union Republicans of the County in the Philadelphia Convention, when the committee adjourned. SPIRITED MEETING OF THE SEVENTH WARD REPUBLICAN A full and enthusistic meeting of the Seventh Ward Union Republican Association was held at their headquarters last evening. Mr. W. L.
